Part 3: Translation

Translate the following passage into Urdu.

A few years ago people used to enjoy going out in the car with the family to a beauty spot or a restaurant in the evening or at the weekend, but not any more. Now there are so many vehicles on the roads that to get stuck in a traffic jam is a common experience all over the world.

I read in the newspaper last month about the world's biggest traffic jam. No traffic could move for nine days on a main road near the capital of China. Most of the vehicles were lorries and they were in a 100 kilometre long queue because roads were being repaired. According to a Chinese newspaper, there is much more traffic on the roads because the economy is growing so fast. The old roads are too weak and too narrow to bear the load of such heavy modern lorries. New roads are needed to bring coal from the mines to the big factories in the area. Some time later I read that it took two or three more days to clear the road. [20]
