This syllabus is regulated for use in England, Wales and Northern Ireland as a Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificate.

This document has 4 pages. Blank pages are indicated.

The documents below consider Ethics in Food Production and Agriculture. Read them both in order to answer all the questions on the question paper.

Document 1: adapted from Ethical food is more than consumer choice, an article written by Christopher Mayes. The author is a specialist in Bio-ethics. He does not work for, or receive funding from any company that would benefit from this article. The article was published online.

Over the past hundred years, industrial agriculture and the globalised food system have produced cheaper, longer lasting and more diverse food items.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

This needs to change, and not by simply adding a new label to our food.

Document 2: adapted from Slavery is a crime – it shouldn't be up to consumers to fight it, an article written by Nicola Frith. The author is a lecturer in Post-Colonial and Slavery Studies. She receives funding from the Early Careers Fellowship Scheme.

The use of slave labour in the global chain that supplies prawns to supermarkets has been highlighted following a six-month investigation.

Content removed due to copyright restrictions.

It is a crime against humanity.

Permission to reproduce items where third-party owned material protected by copyright is included has been sought and cleared where possible. Every reasonable effort has been made by the publisher (UCLES) to trace copyright holders, but if any items requiring clearance have unwittingly been included, the publisher will be pleased to make amends at the earliest possible opportunity.

To avoid the issue of disclosure of answer-related information to candidates, all copyright acknowledgements are reproduced online in the Cambridge Assessment International Education Copyright Acknowledgements Booklet. This is produced for each series of examinations and is freely available to download at www.cambridgeinternational.org after the live examination series.
