Updated Advanced Innovation Challenge guidelines, April 2012

These updated guidelines are in response to issues raised by examiners and centres.

General

- This examination is to be held under normal examination conditions, as stipulated in the JCQ handbook.
- The Workbook is the only paper the candidates should need. Extra paper, other than JCQ examination paper, will not be marked.
- Candidates are not allowed to talk or listen to MP3s, etc.
- The evaluation in box 18 is to be carried out by the student individually – this is not an occasion for peer review.
- Candidates who have started session 2 cannot add additional work to the boxes in session 1, however they are able to refer to this work.
- Computers are allowed, but the internet must be disconnected.

Candidates may find that using Pro/DESKTOP in this environment may not be very useful as it is far more time-consuming than hand sketching and candidates risk losing marks.

The job bag

The job bag is for inspirational materials/items which might aid candidates when coming up with ideas for their design.

Please remember that candidates have limited time to access and use the job bag; therefore, whole books or large quantities of materials are not appropriate.

Photocopied pages of books and printouts of webpages with material lists, swatches, iconic design etc. are all allowed.

Materials brought into the examination which might aid candidates when sitting the F521/02 paper such as revision notes or theory notes must not be attached to the F521/01 answer paper, this paper is handed out to candidates in the F521/02 session. Any evidence of this will be treated as malpractice.

The Workbook from sessions 1 and 2 must be retained by the centre in a secure location until it is issued again for session 3, the Reflection Test.

Candidates may not take the job bag or their model into the Reflection Test examination.

Timings

There are two three-hour sessions for F521/01. The suggested timings within these can be adjusted by centres to suit their own or their candidates' needs.

You will need to allow a break between the two three-hour sessions; breaks need not be supervised.

It is also advisable to have a 15-minute break during each three-hour session. This does not need to be supervised in the same way as an examination, but we advise centres to remind candidates of their responsibilities not to exchange ideas or use the internet.

Candidates needing extra time are advised to take that time at the end of each three-hour session.

Help from staff

The teacher/invigilator reads the instructions and will not be able to give any help other than to aid safety. A technician can also be used and may be helpful when taking photographs. Technicians or teachers can cut materials to a manageable size, but must not cut out shapes or give any other help.

Large centres

Some centres with large numbers of students may not be able to accommodate all candidates in their workshop(s).

If this is the case, you may be able to use an alternative larger venue such as the school hall, as this is a modelling exercise and only basic modelling materials are required. You may also use, if available, an adjoining work room and/or an art room or graphics suite.

SESSION 1	ORGANISATIONAL INSTRUCTIONS	MUST SAY	SAY IN YOUR OWN WORDS
IMPORTANT 180 minutes are available for Session 1 plus a 15 minute break. The times given in this column are ONLY suggestions and may be adapted to suit Centre needs as long as the overall timings are allowed for each session.	Before the candidates enter the room: Arrange room for candidates to sit in groups of two, three or four. Candidates will need space for their job bag. Place a candidate Workbook in each workspace. Ensure a wide range of appropriate materials, tools, equipment are available. When candidates enter the room: Candidates sit in working groups of 2, 3 or 4 students. Rules of the Innovation Challenge.	Session 1 – Designing / Session 2 – Modelling. Session 3 – Reflection (1 hour examination) Over the next two sessions you are going to be involved in a D&T activity. By the end of sessions 1 and 2, your sketches, notes, models, prototypes should show that your ideas would work. You are doing this challenge to show just how good you are at coming up with new and creative ideas under examination conditions. You can develop your ideas in whatever ways you think best – through sketching, writing or making models. Use whatever ways will help show your most creative work. The exam board have given you each a Workbook to record your progress throughout the challenge. Although you are not working in an examination hall you must still treat this activity as an examination. You should not talk unless you are told to do so by a member of staff. Part of the examination requires you to explain your work and receive comments from your workgroup. The member of staff will explain this before this activity takes place.	Explain the meaning of working prototypes. Experiments with ideas – try things out to see if they work/function. It is important that you try your best and feel that you can try any idea out – however crazy or impossible it might seem to start with. Be creative. Use it to record everything. Follow instructions carefully. In the world of work, many companies share ideas and discuss possibilities. They are often called ‘think tanks’.

SESSION 1	ORGANISATIONAL INSTRUCTIONS	MUST SAY	SAY IN YOUR OWN WORDS
		Teaching staff are here to monitor health and safety and organise the running of the challenge. Staff are not allowed to give advice or guidance or assist modelling activity. However, you are allowed to ask for clarification if you are not sure about a task. We will explain everything as we move through the three sessions. PLEASE REMEMBER THAT THE EXAMINER WILL ONLY SEE THE WORKBOOK. IT IS IMPORTANT THAT EVIDENCE OF ALL THINKING, 2D DESIGNING, AND 2D/3D MODELLING, (EVIDENCED BY PHOTOGRAPHS), IS INCLUDED IN THIS WORKBOOK.
	Candidates fill in the following information on page 1 of the Workbook: Candidate name, Centre number, Candidate number.	There will be times when you will be asked to draw or write particular things in your Workbook. We will be taking photographs of your models as they develop. These photos will be stuck in your Workbook. You must develop your own ideas during these sessions. The 'reflect and record' activity will allow you to take advice and suggestions from others in your group. If you think the suggestions are suitable you will be able to modify your design and incorporate their design.
