LET'S REIGNITE BRITISH SPIRIT

By Jack Doyle and Jason Groves

THERESA May issued an eve-of-poll rallying call last night to 'reignite the British spirit'.

She called on Labour supporters to back the Tories in the national interest and for the country to get behind her over Brexit.

Pledging a nation built on fairness and security, the Prime Minister said she would use the opportunity of leaving the EU to create the greatest meritocracy in the world. And she warned families of a Labour tax bomb-

Mrs May's patriotic appeal came as:
■ Two opinion polls suggested the Conservative campaign had stabilised after a 'wobble', with a large majority in sight;

■ The Institute for Fiscal Studies warned Labour would push the tax burden to its highest ever peacetime level and hit families with an average £750 annual bill;

■ Cage, the human rights group which called Islamic State killer Jihadi John a beautiful young man, endorsed Mr Corbyn;

SIMON ON THE STREETS
Turning rough lives around

Many people want to give cash gifts directly to homeless people at Christmas, but worry that their money could fund a much wider drug or alcohol-related problem. We provided a much more effective way to give.

QR codes were printed on cardboard and placed alongside blankets, shopping bags and empty drinks bottles - things normally associated with a homeless person.

Linking directly to a JustGiving page, we enabled the public to donate directly to Simon on the Streets: a homeless charity that supports men and women who are sleeping rough on our streets.

SOURCE C is a poster advertising the homelessness charity Simon On The Streets. Simon On The Streets provides emotional and practical support for people who are homeless and rootless, especially those with issues related to rough sleeping.

The poster features a QR code, which is a type of barcode that can be scanned by a mobile phone and will take the user straight to the charity's JustGiving web page so they can donate money online.

6 Analyse how the Simon On The Streets advertisement (SOURCE C) conveys values, attitudes and beliefs about homelessness.

In your answer you must:

consider how media representations convey values, attitudes and beliefs in SOURCE C make judgements and reach conclusions on how audiences may respond to and interpret these media representations. [15]
