WJEC Religious Studies Subject Officer

Changes to GCE, GCSEs and Entry Level in England and Wales PLUS CPDs

Please look at the important information below regarding GCE, GCSE and Entry Level Religious Studies which will have an effect on all Specifications. These changes are being introduced by the regulators Ofqual in England and the Welsh Government in Wales and will affect all awarding bodies in England and Wales. Please sign up to our Subscribe (see 3) in order to be kept up to date with on-going developments and the changes taking place in both England and Wales. Changes are also taking place with CPD provision for the future.

Ofqual have announced changes to GCSE qualifications which will be of interest to schools registered with WJEC in England and in Wales.

The summer series has gone well. The assessment of SPaG turned out to be less problematic than anticipated. WJEC spent some considerable time in establishing working rules for the assessment of SPaG in the four GCSE subjects which now include the assessment of SPaG. In RS the senior team and myself spent some considerable time in establishing ground rules for the assessment of SPaG which were then shared with examining teams.

At the moment it is unclear what is happening at GCSE and GCE level regarding RS and revision. I hope the picture will be clearer in the autumn. I will ensure that centres in both England and Wales are kept informed of any changes. Again please subscribe to keep up to date with developments.

The regulators in both England and Wales have forbidden any 'face to face CPD' with centres which involves senior examiners or subject officers who have access to 'live' examination papers. WJEC in RS will not be able to have any events like in this in 2013/14. Neither will WJEC be able to organise events in centres again using senior examiners who have had access to the following year's examination papers in RS. I have always made efforts to speak to centres on the telephone and via email. I intend to continue with this service as will my colleagues Eira Morgan and Paul Bradley. I am looking at ways of increasing our availability via phone and email. As always if you have any issues or concerns please contact me.

2 Religious Studies Consultant

Eira Morgan was appointed earlier this year as a Religious Studies Consultant to Tudor Thomas. In addition to taking responsibility for Entry Level Religious Studies, Eira will soon be assuming responsibility for GCSE Religious Studies Specification A. As part of Eira's role she has set up a Twitter account for WJEC Religious Studies in both English and Welsh to provide news, updates and general information to Religious Studies teachers and students in both languages. Follow WJEC Religious Studies on Twitter: @WJEC_RS and CBAC_AstCref.

3 Subscribe to Religious Studies updates

RS teachers are encouraged to join the SUBSCRIBE system which can be found on the Religious Studies page on the WJEC website. Subscribers will automatically be updated about changes and any new resources support available.

5 GCSE NEWS on Spec A and Spec B

WJEC will continue to meet the needs of both Wales and England across the full spectrum of our GCSE qualifications. The subject content of the current WJEC GCSE specifications remain unchanged.

Changes to GCSEs in England

Ofqual, regulator for qualifications in England, announced changes to GCSEs for candidates starting two-year courses in September 2012.

For awards in summer 2014 onwards, linear assessment will be compulsory for candidates in England. They will sit all their examinations at the end of their GCSE course, rather than having the possibility of taking them at different stages during the course as they do at present. This will have an impact on centres in England who have used the 'staged assessment' pattern provided by WJEC in GCSE Religious Studies for both Specification A and Specification B.

Further details of the changes are available on www.ofqual.gov.uk

GCSEs in Wales

In Wales, the Department for Education and Skills has confirmed that schools will be able to choose from two options from September 2012 onwards. Either they will be able to enter candidates for the new linear qualifications, where they sit all their exams at the end of the course, as in England, or they can enter candidates for separate units taken at stages during the course as they do now.

England and Wales and SpaG at GCSE

In GCSE English Literature, Geography, History and Religious Studies, additional marks will be awarded for the accuracy of spelling, punctuation and grammar in questions that require extended answers in examination papers.

KEY DETAILS FOR SPECIFICATION A AND SPECIFICATION B

Specification A has a systematic study of religion, and Specification B, involves a thematic study of some central questions and issues in human life and experience exploring the relevance of religious beliefs, values and traditions to these questions and issues.

Specification B has the added advantage of allowing schools to meet the statutory requirements of both the 1944 Education Act and the 1996 Education Act. The 'staged assessment' (i.e. one short course in year 10 followed by a further short course in year 11, which is aggregated to give a full course result) offered in both specifications will be maintained in Wales only.

KEY DATES FOR CURRENT GCSE SPECIFICATION 2014

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Units 1 and 2: All Topics Question (d)

The question has been raised as to whether this question ‘Explain from two religious traditions.....’ can be answered from two traditions within the same religion.

ANSWER: Please refer to

2.1 Number and Combination of Religions to be Studied (page 7) of the Specification which states:

For each topic of the specification questions will be set requiring candidates to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the beliefs, practices, values and traditions of:

either (i) Christianity and one other principal religion or (ii) a Christian tradition within the broader context of Christianity.

In alternative (ii) candidates will be expected to study one Christian tradition throughout all four topics and be able to place the tradition within the broad context of the Christian faith so that the study is balanced in terms of breadth and depth. They will be required to answer questions on each topic which will anticipate a knowledge and understanding of two Christian traditions.

Candidates can therefore answer from two branches of Christianity and should state which ones they are referring to in the space marked ‘religious tradition 1’. It may be that there is little or no difference between the two traditions, e.g. Roman Catholicism and Anglican. If this is the case, candidates must write everything in full twice. ‘Roman Catholics believe the same thing.’ will score no marks.

Candidates must be aware that in either Unit Paper: Unit 1 (Religion and Life Issues) or Unit 2 (Religion and Human Experience) they may be asked for the viewpoint from one religious tradition only. There will be sufficient specification content for candidates to gain the full marks.

6 GCE RELIGIOUS STUDIES NEWS

In England the regulators have decided that with effect from 2015 AS examination opportunities will not be offered in January. Therefore WJEC will not be able to accept entries from centres in England for AS RS for January 2014 and in subsequent years.

In Wales WJEC will be offering AS examinations in January 2014 in Wales for the last time.

The Secretary of State for Education Michael Gove has announced that in England linear specifications will be introduced in 2015 for first examination in summer 2017. In Wales modular GCE courses will continue for the foreseeable future.

Only the centre examinations officer should send this email. WJEC will then get a letter of registration out to your centre as soon as possible (normally within two working days). Please indicate on your email if your registration is urgent. Once registered, the examinations officer can then register other members of teaching staff additional limited access accounts themselves.

11 CPD ON-LINE EXAMINATION REVIEW

The way WJEC offers feedback on examinations has changed. Examination review will be provided online, in line with revised regulator guidelines. To show teachers what we are planning for autumn 2013 WJEC have prepared a presentation to explain how we will be offering this feedback. This presentation can be found here: <http://www.wjec.co.uk/index.php?nav=155>. The online examination review will be available in Welsh and English, with examples of examination papers in both languages.

Online Results Analysis

Following feedback from teachers, we have improved the way we present item level data to teachers to make it easier for them to compare the performance of their students to that of all WJEC candidates.
